FROM ENGLAND.

New York, July 26. By the London packet ship President, cap-tain Moore, which sailed from Portsmouth on the 16th ult. we have received, says the Courier and Enquirer, files of London papers to the evening of the 14th of June.

The question of emancipating the slaves in the British West Indies proceeds but slowly in the House of Commons; the ministerial toor, senseless, and so badly burnt plan on this subject has however, undergone It is supposed a material alteration. The government now ght he carried propose to pay the West India proprietors no when he was a less a sum than twenty millions of pounds akened by the flames, heat tempted, to reach sterling, as a compensation for the loss of their close, but was prevented by suffication. slaves, and this as a donation, not as a loan. How the sum is to be raised does not distinctly appear; an increased tax on sugar is that if the people of England are determined for regulating the condition of the negroes as on performing what we believe a doubtful act may combine their welfare with the interests of philanthropy, that they should not do it at the expense of the West India planters alone, but that they themselves should pay the cost as well as have the merit of it, if merit there be. One would think however, their burthens the passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this any other passing any act of Parliament for this passi

There can be no doubt that the accounts the government have received of the determined esistance which would be made by the Colonists to their plans of emancipation without compensation, and the disastrous consequen-ces which would inevitably follow, have induced this change in their original intentions; inteed the Colonial Secretary. Mr. Stanley, expressly stated in debate, that the packet for the West Indies had been detained that she might carry out to the Colonies intelligence of the altered views of Ministers. All the propositions of government on the subject, which will be found detailed among our ex-Commons by large majorities. As far as we can judge the West India interest shows a willingness to consent to the measure in its willingness to consent to the measure in its present form. Mr. Robinson, the first speaker in the debate after a committee of the house went into the consideration of the question of compensation, commences his speech by saying, the concratulated the house on having tracts, have been carried in the House of calthy situation.
